

TRADES AND INDUSTRY

The Casais cycle of knowledge potentiates the mastery of knowing how to assemble the pieces of the puzzle

The strategy to foster the growth of vertical areas in the group's Construction sector in international markets has proved to be very positive, since it allows us to maintain simultaneously the development strategy of this area in the various markets in which we operate, as well as the eventual extension to new markets.

During six decades of activity, we have gathered knowledge and know-how throughout the construction industry and worked with the best engineering partners. We have made our own course and today we are on multiple fronts and very well prepared to respond in the best way to the needs of the market.

We have a well-structured integrated offer capability through the various specialty and industry companies that currently develop and present their own solutions.
